

Prediction is not the binding constraint: a prediction-free, learning-free geometric controller reaches a higher aperture gain at 1/119 of the computation, and adding foresight lowers it. The same conclusion holds at three ground sites built from the same TLE archive.